

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In accordance with the present invention, an automated inquiry-response e-mail based content delivery system is provided for delivering items of content to client devices at remote locations. Further provided are methods of delivering items of content from a storage location to client devices at remote locations through e-mail based inquiry-response automation.

09920481.000101